—DiSalle Plans Community Ceiling Program— Grocery Items Will Go Under Price Lid

AFL President William Green Believes
Prospects Good For Holding The Line

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Price Chief Michael V. DiSalle told labor leaders Monday he plans to have a dollars-and-cents price ceiling program in effect on 15 to 20 processed food items in 30 days.

DiSalle said regulations are being prepared on veal and pork, although he added that the latter is still below parity.

The price controller made his statement at a locked-door meeting of the labor policy committee in explaining the price control program and future prospects for holding the line on inflation.

DiSalle later told newsmen a 160-city spot check showed supplies of popular retail grades of beef are "almost as great or greater than a month ago," but there is a general shortage of commercial and utility grades which is being investigated.

The price chief said the only region to show a supply drop of popular cuts was around Chicago where supplies were 10 to 35 per cent lower. He said this also is being probed.

15 Or 20 Items
DiSalle told a news conference that the 15 to 20 items, including canned and other processed foods, will be covered by new dollar-and-cent ceilings under community pricing.

William Green, AFL president, said after the meeting with DiSalle that the price controller had been "convincing" with regard to future prospects for holding the line on prices.

Representing 15 million workers, the policy committee is expected to formally demand a new wage ceiling formula, probably calling for approval of pay boosts up to 15 per cent. The present ceiling limits them to 10 per cent.

Meanwhile, the wage stabilization board, discussed for three and one-half hours a 4-cent hourly pay hike for one million members of the CIO Auto Workers Union based on greater output per person as a result of technological advancement. It agreed to take up the question again Tuesday.

DiSalle told newsmen he was asked by committee members what the outlook is for establishment of dollars-and-cents ceilings which labor critics say are the only effective way of curbing prices. He said he replied that he plans to start out with a "partial" program including those food items on which prices at the farm have reached parity or seem likely to hold steady for some time.

The committee discussed the appointment of a special labor assistant to DiSalle to keep it informed on price control developments. Selection of the assistant has been delegated to the railway brotherhoods.

Packer Of Beef Blames Ceilings For New Layoffs

OTTUMWA, Ia.—(INS)—The John T. Morrell packing plant announced Monday that all its salesmen have been ordered to stop taking orders for beef and that a major portion of killing gangs at the three plants have been laid off.

The firm operates packing houses in Ottumwa, Sioux Falls and Topeka.

A spokesman for the firm explained that the firm was unable to buy cattle at prices which would permit resale of the slaughtered product at office of price stabilization ceiling prices.

Allies Turn Back Nine Red Attacks

Battle Line Moves
Forward One Mile

TOKYO — (Tuesday) — (AP)—Allied troops beat off nine red counter attacks Monday and moved their twisting battle line one mile deeper into communist Korea.

A U. S. Eighth army staff officer said today the reds were fighting hardest in defense of Chorwon and Kumwha—anchors of an assembly triangle.

One of the red counter attacks was repulsed 10 miles south of Chorwon.

Planes Bomb Camp
North of allied-held Hwachon along a main road to Kumwha, planes from the U. S. aircraft carrier Bon Homme Richard caught about 300 reds in a camp and killed 150.

Only 300 reds were captured in Monday's actions. AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky said this small number indicated the ferocity of the foe's delaying actions.

In Washington, Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, operations chief of the army department, disclosed that the hard-hitting Eighth army is at full combat strength for the first time in the war.

He said the attacking divisions of the Eighth were "brown, weather-beaten, tough professional fighters."

Close to Nerve Center
United Nations infantrymen, armor and artillery were drilling close to the sensitive nerve center of the main Chinese defense network along the western and central fronts, field dispatches said.

Massed artillery, the most effective U. N. ground weapon, roared in ever-increasing volume. At some points though, it proved ineffective.

Chinese entrenched in five-year-old bunkers and concealed by fresh spring foliage had to be dug out by flame throwers, hand grenades and rifles.

Four Local Methodist Pastors Changed

Changes in four Lincoln Methodist pastorates were announced Monday night as the church's annual state conference adjourned at McCook.

According to a previous announcement, the present Lincoln district superintendent, Dr. Frank Ploutz of Lincoln, will be replaced by Rev. Everett A. Sabar, who leaves a similar position in the northwest district at Scottsbluff.

The changes in Lincoln pastorates are in the following Methodist churches:

Elm Park: Rev. Carl G. Bader will be replaced by Rev. Lloyd Watt from Gering. Rev. Bader will go to posts at Ainsworth and Long Pine.

Lincoln Heights: Rev. LaVerne Ellis will be replaced by Rev. Don Maxwell, a sophomore student at Nebraska Wesleyan and a transfer student from the University of Wyoming. Rev. Ellis will attend the Perkins School Theology in Texas.

Trinity: Rev. Culver Warren, director of religious education, will be replaced by Rev. Herbert W. Jackson of David City, who will take a post of associate pastor. Rev. Warren will go to Loup City.

Bryan Memorial: Rev. Eleanor Nazareus will be replaced by Rev. Cecil B. Green.

Extensive changes in Methodist district boundaries in the state were made at the conference. Included in the changes were an extension of the Lincoln district to include all of Lancaster, Gage and Johnson counties, and parts of Pawnee, Otoe and Saunders. The Lincoln district had previously extended only as far south as Sprague.

Rev. John J. Sheaff, pastor of Epworth Methodist church in Lincoln, told The Star that the changes in boundaries are intended to equalize the districts in terms of area and number of churches.

JACKSON, Tenn.—(AP)—Four of seven crewmen were killed Monday night when a giant C-119 exploded and crashed near here during a rainstorm.

Conductor Koussevitsky Is Dead At 77

BOSTON — (AP) — Serge Koussevitsky, 77, conductor-emeritus of the Boston Symphony orchestra, died Monday night at the New England medical center after a short illness.

He had been in poor health for about a year after being stricken with a virus infection in Phoenix, Ariz.

Koussevitsky had led the Boston symphony from 1924 to 1949.

After his recovery he returned to his home in adjacent Brookline. Until his last illness he had been working with Boris Goldovsky, a Boston composer, and conductor, on an opera, "Pique Dame."

Koussevitsky is survived by his widow, the former Olga Naumoff, his second wife, to whom he was married in 1947, a nephew, Fabian Sevitzky, conductor of the Indianapolis symphony orchestra, and a niece, Mrs. Joseph De Pasquale, whose husband is first viola player in the Boston symphony.

Koussevitsky's first wife, Natalya Ouchkoff, a sculptress, died in 1942 after 37 years of married life.

Music authorities considered him one of the four top conductors of the world.

Quitting Russia in 1920 because of his bitterness toward the Bolshevik regime, he went to Paris, England, Germany, Italy and Spain.

In 1924 the famous conductor-composer came to America to conduct the Boston Symphony orchestra.

Lives Lost In Bear Creek As Big Blue Goes Down Rapidly

Acheson Testifies:

Killing Of Reds Will Continue

Until They Lose Their Aggression Desire

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Secretary of State Acheson admitted Monday that President Truman's March plan to end the Korean war by a truce call probably would have gotten nowhere with the Chinese communists.

But Acheson testified that the plan, which Gen. MacArthur was accused of wrecking by his March 24 cease-fire ultimatum to the Chinese communists, had "other important collateral usefulness."

The secretary did not explain that statement.

Acheson, on the witness stand for the third day in the senate probe of MacArthur's dismissal, was asked by Sen. Cain (R-Wash.) whether the president's armistice plan "would have found favor with the enemy. He replied:

"No. I think the chances were probably against it getting anywhere. But it had other important collateral usefulness."

Acheson also testified that there was "no occasion" to send MacArthur the terms of the proposed armistice. He said the then Far East chief had been "informed that we were negotiating something or considering something."

The secretary added that the U. S. government "did not send any draft of a cease-fire order to anybody."

Earlier in the hearing, Acheson testified that MacArthur's March ultimatum to the Chinese communist field commander made it "quite impossible" for the president to execute his armistice plan.

The cabinet member testified that the U. S. will make every effort short of war to prevent Russian domination of China and will keep killing Chinese reds in Korea until they lose their desire for aggression.

General Wedemeyer Next
Chairman Russell said Acheson will be followed by Lt. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, author of the controversial and long-suppressed report on Korea which has figured repeatedly in the MacArthur hearings.

Highlights of the cabinet member's third-day testimony: He declared that the national government of Chiang Kai-shek collapsed not from lack of American aid but from its "moral, political and military leadership."

Acheson swore that there is not now and never has been any "communist influence" in the state department affecting United States Far East policy. The secretary testified that he not only opposed the dismissal of MacArthur, but that he collaborated with defense Secretary Acheson in the wording of the chief executive's announcement of the action.

Acheson defended Far East concessions to Russia at the Yalta conference as necessary to get the Soviets into the war against Japan at a time when the United States did not know "whether or not we had the atom bomb."

He denied that Chiang was "sold down the river" at the Yalta conference and maintained that the conference results were, in fact, of "great assistance" to the Chinese nationalist leader.

Third Boy Found Safe In Nearby Wheat Field;
Crest Moves Downstream To Wymore Vicinity

(Special To The Star)

BEATRICE—A Lincoln man, Richard Wiatt, 25, was found alive Monday night after he was thought to have drowned with two other state home patients several hours earlier a mile and a half from the home.

The deaths were the first in southeast Nebraska's current flooding.

By early Tuesday morning, however, the Blue was "falling fast," according to Beatrice Police Chief L. C. Regler, who told The Star by telephone that danger was now past. "Court street should be open by mid-Wednesday," he said, referring to the city's main street.

The crest was definitely past Beatrice, the chief said, and added that downstream reports from Wymore and other towns indicated the same thing.

Found Hiding
Wiatt was found hiding in a wheat field about a fourth of a mile west of the creek at 6:15 p. m. Monday while searchers dragged the creek for him. At one time during the search for him, the State Home inmate said he was in a tree close enough to searchers to hear their conversation.

Supt. James L. Irwin of the Beatrice State Home identified the two drowning victims as Orville McPherson, 19, of Glenview; and Walter Harroun, 14, of Omaha.

Irwin said Harroun and Wiatt and a third lad had been playing baseball with other patients of the institution and apparently decided to run away.

The three ran across the grounds and headed for the creek, which is just north of the institution. The third lad, however, apparently thought better of the flight and returned to the institution.

Harroun and Wiatt were unable to see the creek itself, because water flowed over the bank for about 15 or 20 feet, Irwin said. The superintendent said McPherson pursued the two escapees and apparently was attempting to rescue Harroun when he was pulled into the hole.

Meanwhile, flood waters from the Big Blue river inundating sections of West Beatrice was rapidly going down late Monday, after setting a new record mark.

11 Feet Above Flood
The official Blue river gauge on the Sixth street bridge at Beatrice measured 26.9 feet—almost 11 feet over flood stage—shortly before the water began receding Monday. The gauge, inaccessible since late Sunday, was read by army engineers who had two boats here for rescue operations.

Downstream at Wymore, the Blue maintained a steady level Monday night after rising throughout the day. The crest was believed to have been reached at Wymore, according to County Sheriff Roy Booe. The town is high enough to escape flooding.

At Barneston, below Wymore, the river was rising, but no serious flooding is expected. Approximately 30 blocks in northwest, west, southwest and southern sections of Beatrice remained under water Monday, Chief of Police L. C. Regler estimated.

The Blue was the highest here in the past 50 years, long-time residents claimed, topping the record mark of 27.6 feet set in June, 1947.

Four persons, including an elderly lady and a baby, were rescued Monday afternoon by a government boat from the Rex Krause farm near Ponton bridge, northwest of Beatrice. This was

Rest Ordered For George VI

LONDON — (INS) — A "catastrophic inflammation" of the lung forced King George VI to start taking a complete rest of at least four weeks.

The bulletin added: "A period of complete rest is essential to his majesty's recovery and on the advice of his doctors he has reluctantly decided to cancel all public engagements for the next four weeks."

The Associated Press said Princess Elizabeth, heiress to the throne, will take over most of the king's engagements.

Happy Graduate Is Presented A Diploma And Presents A Daughter On The Same Day

Mrs. Vera C. Williamson, 1707 Otter street, received her degree from the University of Nebraska in absentia Monday morning when she passed up commencement exercises to give birth to an eight-pound, six-ounce baby girl.

The baby, Margaret Anne, was born at 7:16 a. m. Monday, just a few hours before Mrs. Williamson was to have marched in the commencement procession.

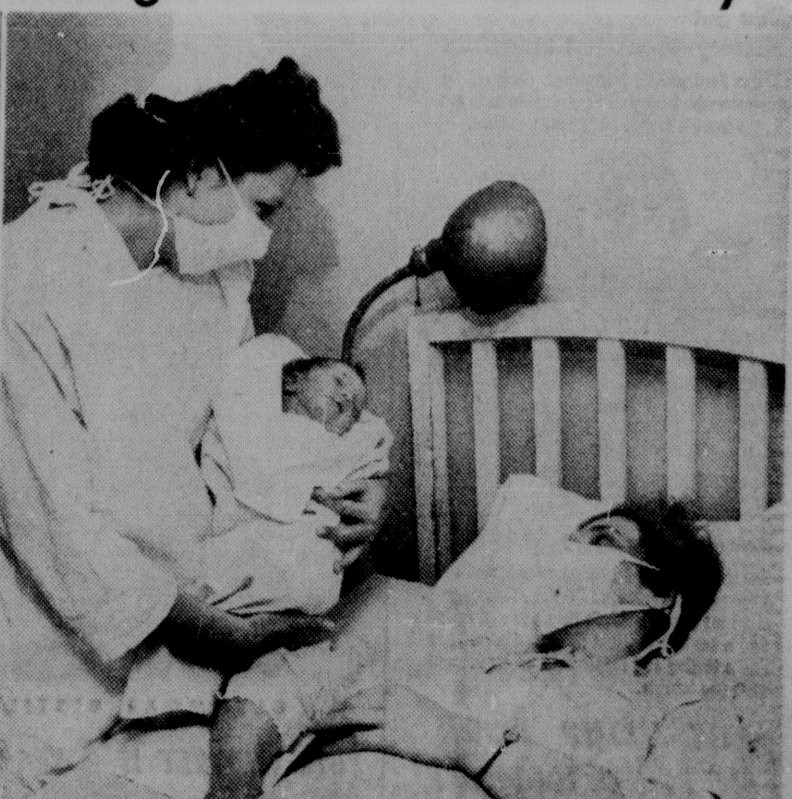

Mrs. Williamson, wife of the Rev. G. G. Williamson, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lincoln, was scheduled to receive a bachelor of arts degree.

The doctor's prediction that the baby would arrive during final exam week prompted Mrs. Williamson to apply for permission to graduate "in absentia." She also took her exams early.

The university sent an official notice stating that "permission granted for you to graduate 'in absentia,' if 'in absentia' is necessary."

Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, director of admissions at the university, said Mrs. Williamson had completed her work to satisfaction and had no trouble with her examinations.

Mrs. Williamson was presented at the hospital with a number of congratulatory cards—all on the occasion of her graduation.

1,180 Graduating U. Of N. Seniors Hear 'Prescription For Life'

Dr. Robert E. Wilson Advises Enthusiasm In Work, Leisure

The 1,180 graduating University of Nebraska seniors Monday morning got this prescription for a life filled with both spiritual and material rewards: Enthusiasm, tempered with judgment and patience.

Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, gave this advice at the university's eightieth annual commencement exercises held in the coliseum.

"In stressing the two factors of happiness and productivity, I do not mean to say that we should overlook other desirable things such as security, leisure, education, equality and the like," Dr. Wilson said.

"But one of the things we learn in this world is that we can't have everything in equal measure, and I do not think that happiness and high productivity must be the primary aims of a really good society.

"Enthusiasm has much to do both with attainment of success and the enjoyment of life," Dr. Wilson said. "Guard this treasure with your life. If you cannot be enthusiastic about your line of work, or the company you work for, after a fair trial, change your work and company."

"If you cannot be enthusiastic about our country, try another for a while. Possibly your main enthusiasm will be for some reform you feel is needed in your business or your community; that is fine—certainly far better than merely to sit and complain because things are not ideal.

"In such efforts, however, you must learn to expect obstacles and rebuffs. You will need patience and tolerance as well as enthusiasm, if you are to win your point instead of merely antagonizing those who make the final decision."

Dr. Wilson addressed a graduating class which included 315 World war II veterans. The class compares with 1,661 a year ago, over 700 of which was composed of ex-GIs. The 1951 class included 820 men and 369 women.

Nine seniors graduated with "high distinction." They are: George L. Johnson, Fairbury; Robert L. Raun, Minden; Delmar D. Witter, Jansen; Frederick P. Picard, Geneva; Maria L. Bude, Lincoln; Nolan T. Jones, Gothenburg; Marilyn Campfield, Omaha; Marilyn M. Karel, Howells, and Nancy Noble, Lincoln.

Honorary Degrees were conferred upon the following: Dr. Harold O. Peterson, research department of the Radio Corporation of America, doctor of engineering; Dr. Warren S. Thompson, Miami university, Oxford, Ohio and Harvey M. Johnson, judge of the U.S. court of appeals in Omaha, doctor of laws; Dr. Cornelius B. Phillip, Rocky Mountain laboratory of the U.S. public health service, doctor of science; and S. R. McKelvie, publisher and livestockman, Valentine, doctor of agriculture.

Distinguished service awards were presented to five alumni of the university: Miss Mary Rokahr, Washington, D. C.; Daniel Gurleben, San Francisco; Samuel C. Waugh, Lincoln; Percy C. Spencer, Scarsdale, N. Y.; and R. Blanchard, Rochester, N. Y.

The Nebraska Builder award was presented to J. Hyde Sweet, publisher of the Nebraska City News-Press.

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson conferred the degrees and awards. Commencement chaplain was The Rev. C. Vin White, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lincoln. Prof. J. P. Colbert was master of ceremonies.

Dr. Wilson prefaced his remarks to the class by pointing out that the 1951 graduate should not desire, nor deserve, sentimental sympathy because they have had an educational opportunity given so few in a war-torn world.

Dr. Wilson said he does not share the belief, "too common among businessmen today, that our colleges are hotbeds of communism and socialism. I do not share it because it is not true. To be sure, there is a healthy belief that the world can be improved, and some impractical idealism which I hope will never disappear from our colleges."

Expresses Concern One thing that does give me concern about our college youth, Dr. Wilson said, is that they are too inclined to take for granted the wonderful advantages which they enjoy, probably because the advantages come too easily for most of us.

"In order to appreciate our economic system better, let's give a little real thought to some of the problems involved in building and maintaining a happy and

Robert E. Wilson Makes A 'Comeback'

Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board of Standard Oil of Indiana, commencement speaker at the University of Nebraska, was making a "return engagement" Monday.

Prof. J. P. Colbert, master of ceremonies who introduced Wilson, pointed out that Wilson once worked in the shops at Havelock.

And Wilson went further than admitting it. Said he, "It was in the engine shops that I first learned what real labor was like."

He revealed that in 1909 he

Lincoln's Drainage Problems

One solid fact emerged from the storms of last week. Lincoln's system of storm sewers to carry off the surplus waters of heavy rains is woefully inadequate.

The result is still a fresh memory. There were flooded basements which were not due to the overflow of streams. There were streets running full, like rivers, from curb to curb, frequently futilely attempting to carry water that covered not only street but sidewalks and spread itself over the adjacent lawns. There were scores and scores of intersections which became miniature lakes because the water rushing down from all sides could not escape. In the more outlying districts, there were flooded overpasses, impassable to traffic, suspending travel temporarily, making it impossible for citizens to reach their homes if they happened to be away from home at that time, or cutting them off from other sections of the city.

This is not new. It has been called to the attention of the people of Lincoln time and again, in comprehensive outline on occasions by City Engineer Dave Erickson, only to be forgotten almost as soon as the skies cleared, and the sun took over. It would be difficult to say what sections were hardest hit. Every lowland area in Lincoln suffered to some extent—some more than others—because the storm sewer system of this community, designed to meet the drainage requirements of a much smaller area than it now undertakes to serve, simply wasn't up to doing the job. The city engineer gave a report to the council Monday dealing with this drainage question. Specifically he called the council's attention to the need for an estimated $100,000 storm sewer construction project in southwest Lincoln on Lake street from Ninth to Fourteenth, and Van Dorn, from Sixteenth to Twentieth. That is, perhaps, the most pressing locality, but it is only scratching the surface in meeting the needs for expanded, enlarged storm sewer facilities if a full answer is to be given to the problem of drainage.

Any attempt to simplify this matter is hazardous. In one of the highest elevations of Lincoln last Friday night, we noted an opening at an intersection which was undertaking to handle the water coming from three directions, and the opening to the sewer was not much in excess of three feet in width and a few inches in depth. The quick conclusion is that the openings leading to these storm sewers are too small. Innumerable complaints can be heard on this score. We assume that the openings leading to storm sewers are designed to permit the escape of waters commensurate with the capacity of the sewer to carry them off. And the large, unguarded openings do present safety hazards in the case of little tots.

Now the question is what to do about it. We have added miles and miles of paved streets to the Lincoln residential areas. Every square foot of pavement means that every inch of rain that falls upon it will seek quick escape, and, barred from escape, will overflow and flood the low-lying areas. It is foolish to speculate upon how much the drainage problems of the higher-lying areas in Lincoln contributed to the flooding of the Salt creek bottoms. We cannot escape the fact that in the rush of water, part of the troubles grew directly out of the inadequacy of Lincoln's storm sewer system. Salt creek itself did not rise to the height it has on other occasions, but an enormous amount of water was funnelled directly to the bottoms, flooding low-lying homes and business establishments. We know that the storm sewers themselves were not adequate, and we know that the waters rushed from the higher residential sections to the lower-lying ground to convert it into a miniature lake.

We—all of us—have been neglecting the drainage problem, infinitely intensified by a rapidly growing community. There has been an excuse for this in the mounting burden of taxes. But it is poor economy; actually it is not economy but costly and wasteful—to let years slip away without doing anything about it. Every time the matter of faulty storm sewers is called to the attention of the public, it turns its back. Let us suggest that if a new storm sewer program of a long-range character is undertaken by this community, it be integrated with the tormenting problem which has seen areas in the Salt creek bottom repeatedly flooded. While we are talking earnestly about flood control, we can think of no more ironical reflection than a storm sewer system which perpetuates the flooding of a residential area in near proximity to Salt creek.

Lack of Enthusiasm?

One paragraph in the commencement address to the graduates of the University of Nebraska—delivered by Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana—was especially challenging.

After expressing the opinion that college youths today, along with their predecessors, are inclined to take for granted the wonderful advantages which they enjoy, Mr. Wilson said this: "The other, and somewhat related cause for concern about the situation in our colleges is the fact that so few seem to emerge with real enthusiasm for the American way of life and its amazing achievements. Does our cherished right to freely examine and criticize our leaders result in such lack of enthusiasm? Have we lost our faith in the ability of free men to solve their future problems as they have those in the past, with a minimum of compulsion? Or do we merely dislike to parade our deeper feelings about our country?"

Those are good questions which the speaker did not undertake to answer directly. First of all, however, in answering them, there is still another question. Is what we see around us in our everyday life actually evidence of a lack of enthusiasm on the part of youth, or a loss of faith by free men and women? Nothing in the limited experience that has been our privilege leads us to believe that youth is less enthusiastic or less appreciative of the values of American institutions than earlier generations. It is impossible to be near them or to listen to them without coming to the conclusion that they indeed are a great group of youngsters, eager, quick-witted, with an honesty that is disarming, and while perhaps a little more blunt in what they say, it is necessary only to scratch the surface to find something really worthwhile.

One of the very fine developments of recent years has been the flow of students from abroad to the campuses of America's colleges and universities. They are perhaps the best that Europe offers. They are welcome, and in their hours of reflection, we trust that they come to a feeling of warm friendship for what they see here in the United States.

With the difficulties of language, and the adjustments necessitated by a completely changed environment, many of them struggle with amazing success. But from out of the homes of American cities and towns and from the countryside come hundreds of thousands of young men and young women, steeped in the traditions of a free society, and we find it impossible to accept the conclusion that anything other than a fierce pride fills them with reverence for the sacrifices made for them, and the heritage of free institutions placed in their hands. They are of inquiring mind. They no longer accept what we call "truths" simply because we say that they are eternal "truths." They demand the proof, and frequently the only proof is provided by maturity, or by the accumulated experience which instills wisdom. And they will make their mistakes, even as we have made ours.

Free America never has been a nation of stereotyped minds. There was a great deal of wisdom in Thomas Jefferson's statement that each generation will have to solve its own problems, and even greater wisdom is his utterance of complete faith in their ability to do so. Youth is the age for enthusiasm and faith, and advancing years for cynicism and doubts. Youth covers that period of life when experiment and adventure beckon appealingly, and ripe maturity adds its caution and its fears. All over this country at this season of year, hundreds of thousands of young men and young women are saying farewell to their campus years. They know in their hearts of the decency of their purposes, and the years ahead of them will give confirmation.

Echoes Of Yalta

Did we have to barter with Stalin at Yalta in order to insure Japan's quick defeat? Had we decided to go it alone against Japan, at the price of heavier casualties and added national debt, would that have prevented Russia from moving in?

Well, those are only two of the many questions raised by Secretary of State Dean Acheson in reviewing before senate armed services and foreign relations committees what happened at Yalta. How can there be any sure answer to questions inspired by something that was done, or an answer to something that wasn't done? Yalta happened; and in its result—yes, in the profound result of a second global conflict—it is possible to reach an opinion while looking over the shoulder backward, and yet that opinion actually settles nothing. We seem to have adopted the habit of saying to ourselves that if we had followed this course and if we had not done this, then we would not be in our present troubles.

Acheson's sincerity can be accepted without reservation. Those who differ sharply with him can be credited with an honorable purpose.

Self-Defense Work

A story by a Washington correspondent which is now going the rounds gives a fair appraisal of what's happening in the nation's capital these days. Two high-ranking officials were in conversation, according to the tale, when one explained that he was spending most of his time on defense work.

"But you don't have defense work in your agency," the other official protested.

"Oh, yes, we have defense work all right," the first man replied. "We spend all our time defending our agency before congressional committees."

CAPEHART ANGRILY CALLS FOR JAILING OF PEARSON ON CHARGE OF CONTEMPT

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The question of whether "Drew Pearson should go to jail" following publication of the minutes and a suppressed report of the senate banking and currency committee was thrust out before a stormy two-hour secret session of that committee last week.

Chief promoter of "stripes for Pearson" was Indiana's Senator Homer Capehart, the music-box king, who strongly objected to this column's publication of excerpts from the senate committee's investigation of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and the RFC.

Capehart had first demanded that Chairman Maybank of South Carolina interrupt the banking and currency committee's important hearings on price controls and hold a special meeting to find out where Pearson got his story. Instead, Maybank called the committee together 45 minutes early. But the Indiana senator didn't finish his rampage in 45 minutes and tied up the senators all morning.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Defense Marshall waited half a day to testify.

"Here is a situation where the secret minutes of this committee have been stolen," Capehart raged. "I want to know how Pearson got them. I want to put him under subpoena. I want to call him before this committee, and if he refuses to answer I propose that we put him in jail."

Senator Capehart was referring to this column's revelation that the B & O had cooked up a "fictitious" bankruptcy with the collusion of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and thus was able to postpone repayment of an $87,000,000 government loan until 1965. This also froze control of the railroad in the hands of Jesse Jones' RFC henchmen at salaries two or three times what they got with the RFC.

While Senator Tobey, then chairman of the committee, was in New Hampshire at the bedside of his dying wife, this column further reported, Capehart had called a committee meeting and after only 13 minutes debate, the committee had voted to pigeon-hole Tobey's report.

As a result, the uncovering of scandals inside the RFC was postponed four years. If they had been exposed at that time—1947—the taxpayers would have been saved a lot of money later.

Ten or twelve times during the secret committee meeting last week, Capehart repeated: "I want Pearson put under subpoena. I want him put on the stand. I want him jailed for contempt."

However, other senators did not agree. "I'm a newspaperman," said Senator Blair Moody of Michigan, who was formerly with the Detroit News, "and I can tell you that Pearson would simply refuse to reveal his source. Then where would we be?"

"If you do subpoena Pearson," drawled Fulbright of Arkansas mischievously, "I want to be sure that your subpoena, Walter Trohan, too." He referred to the

Washington Calling

IKE VERY DISCOURAGED BY EUROPE'S FAILURE TO BUILD UP ARMIES

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—During a farewell conference recently with an American ambassador about to depart for Europe, President Truman gave one final injunction. In effect, the president said:

"When you go through Paris, I want you to be sure to go and see Ike. I understand he feels very discouraged and downhearted. It's a mighty tough job he has over there."

The president may well have had in mind the reluctance with which General Eisenhower accepted his present assignment to weld together a North Atlantic defense command. Ike was getting well established in his civilian career as president of Columbia university, with plans and projects far into the future. But when he was tapped by the commander-in-chief, he knew he had no choice.

The change in circumstances from last January, when he first went to Europe, to now is almost as great as the change from day to night. And the principal factor in this change, influencing all other circumstances, is the dismissal of General MacArthur and the political explosion it touched off. With the intense preoccupation over the MacArthur issue, it would not be surprising if Ike felt somewhat lonely out on the long European limb.

That preoccupation has got in the way of many things, and particularly in congress. Belatedly the administration request for military and economic aid to Europe has now gone to the lawmakers in an omnibus measure calling for $9 billion. When it will be acted upon, and how much of the request will be approved, is anyone's guess.

The delays and distractions in Washington, as Eisenhower sees all too clearly from the vantage point of Paris, produce a similar reaction in Europe. Doubts are raised once again over American intentions; doubts which may in some instances be scarcely more than an excuse for doing nothing.

Although he is a patient diplomat, what Ike has found most difficult to combat in Europe, according to reports to the Pentagon, is old-fashioned inertia. Too little is done in spite of prodding and pushing. In one report from France, it was stated that less than 10 per cent of the defense contracts to be let this year had actually been put out.

Europeans complain about the scarcity of vital materials, with the United States taking most of the world's supply. The proportion of this country's has been soaring in the past year. With cobalt, for example, the share taken by America has gone from roughly 35 per cent to about 60 per cent.

It is when the two halves of the free world get to arguing over such questions that Ike finds himself in the crossfire. He can recommend to Washington and he can urge Europe. But the practical solution is not in his hands.

Europe, too, has its preoccupations. The French are holding national elections on June 17 which are in many respects the most important since the war. The present government has been reluctant to take any drastic step which could be exploited by the communists to alienate voters away from the parties that favor cooperation for defense in the North Atlantic pact.

In Britain the labor government has been shaken by defections growing out of what is alleged to be America's domination on the one hand and vacillation on the other. Here, too, the shadow of an election—perhaps in the fall—makes decisions more difficult.

Faced with these manifold troubles, Ike would have to have an even more cheerful temperament than he has not to feel moments of great discouragement.

One reason Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, is in Europe now is to get a better idea of Eisenhower's problems. Even though Bradley has had a sympathetic understanding of Ike's position, a visit to North Atlantic headquarters will give him a clearer picture of what the supreme commander in Europe has to cope with.

On the political side there are those, and they include some of the inner circles of the republica party, who would be only too happy to see Ike stub his toe on this assignment. For them the preoccupation over the MacArthur issue has been a blessed straightening out.

Garden Glances With The Moon

By CECILIE PARRISH SWINGLE

"It is the month of June,
The month of leaves and roses,
When pleasant sights salute the eyes
And pleasant scents, the nose."
—N. P. Willis

FIRST lunar quarter began yesterday with the new moon in the airy and barren sign, Gemini. To-night at 8:29 this new moon will enter the watery and exceedingly fruitful sign, Cancer. And Friday night at 9:10 it will enter the fiery and barren sign, Leo.

Another flower show staged by the Garden Club of Lincoln has come and gone. It was a beautiful, beautiful show despite last week's deluge of beating rains. Winners of the Nomenclature Contest were: Mrs. Paul Murdock, 4211 Holdrege street, a member of the Garden Lovers Club; Mrs. Alex V. Carlson, 3816 Washington Street; and Mr. Howard C. Reynolds, Route 2, Milford.

The correct names of the three plants are:

No. 1 Quercus (Oak) Fagacea. The variety palustris (Pin Oak).

No. 2 Lamium. Labiatae. Old world herbs grown in border or rock garden. Common name, "Dead Nettle." This variety, maculatum L. (variegatum).

No. 3 Rheo. Discolor (Tradescantia discolor). Common name, "Moses-in-the-Burushes." Perennial herbs from West Indies and Mexico grown in our climate as house plants.

NOW let us look to this coming weekend and other flower shows. The Garden Lovers Club's show will open next Saturday, June 9, and Sunday, June 10 at the Havelock Y.W.C.A. center.

Loyalty Oaths

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: With respect to the loyalty oath prescribed by the last legislature, there are a few possibilities about which I think the people of the state should be concerned. The state has the undoubted right in law and morals, to assure itself of the loyalty of those who discharge public functions. The traditional American way of dealing with disloyal acts has been to punish them in accordance with known laws, applied with the usual safeguards well understood by citizens and officials alike. In the light of this tradition, the required oath lacks clearness. While everyone assumes that it is directed at the communist party, no one can be sure what other organizations may at some time in the future be held subversive.

Some person or persons, presumably officers of the state or of the United States, will at some time have to name such organizations, and no one can predict what these will be. In effect, then public employees will agree by signing this oath to have their loyalty determined by persons as yet unknown and by rules as yet unannounced. Forswearing membership in the communist party or in organizations dominated by it will not be enough if someone should in the future decide to define subversive organizations in less precise language.

Any law which leaves the determination of what is illegal to the discretion of officers as yet unknown may well menace the liberty of organizations which are at present clearly loyal. It is not hard to conceive a situation in which popular hysteria would permit designing and ambitious rulers to ban any group whose views for the moment happen to be distasteful to those with influence and power. This sort of official conduct destroyed the rule of law in National Socialist Germany, and examples of it were numerous in the United States during and after the first world war. We are a little ashamed of our conduct then; it would be better now not to encourage acts of which we may be ashamed 30 years hence.

In itself, an affirmation of loyalty presents no issues about which I am in doubt. Communists, of course, will not hesitate to sign this or any other oath if it serves their purpose. It is clear, however, that there has been for some years a steady growth of intolerance for unusual or eccentric views. The requirement of a special oath may be simply another expression of this intolerance and perhaps another step in a process which may end only with the extinction of our traditional liberties. It seems to me, in other words, that free speech and free inquiry and free worship may well be victims of thoughtless efforts to preserve these freedoms as essential parts. We do well to bear in mind, as Jefferson said 150 years ago, "that though the will of the majority is in all cases to prevail, that will to be rightful must be reasonable; that the minority possess their equal rights, which equal law must protect, and to violate would be oppression. And let us reflect that having vanished from our land that religious intolerance under which mankind so long bled and suffered, we have yet gained little if we countenance a political intolerance as despotic, as wicked, and capable of as bitter and bloody persecutions."

The "Nomenclature Contest" of Sunday's Garden Club show. The center group to be named . . . surrounding groups, the prizes.

John H. Weiler and Mrs. Paul Murdock are co-chairmen and have chosen "Rainbows in Your Garden" for the theme of the show.

The Cornhusker Rose Society's second exclusive rose show will be Sunday, June 10. The place, Hotel Cornhusker ballroom. The time, 2 p.m., to 10 p.m.

All classes in this show are for amateurs! Exhibitors are not required to have membership in any garden or flower guild, club or society. Any amateur rose grower in Lincoln and vicinity or out-state may exhibit and compete for all awards.

Take heed—entries must be in place and ready for judging by 10:30 a.m., Sunday, June 10. All entries must be made according to schedule. Should you not have a schedule, write to E. G. Dittmer, 1717 Dakota, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

All roses must have been grown by the exhibitor (except in the arrangement classes; roses from other gardens may be used. Other than rose foliage is permitted provided it does not predominate.) Greenhouse and cloth house grown roses are not allowed in competition. Containers for entries are furnished by the show committee but in the "arrangement" classes, all containers, accessories, as stand or mats, must be furnished by the arranger. No mirrors or accessories are allowed.

All specimens of teas, hybrid teas, and hybrid perpetuals must be disbudbed. Other types, as polyanthus, hybrid polyanthus, floribundas, climbers, etc., are shown without disbudbing. To be effective, disbudbing should be done as soon as the secondary buds are visible. This is done best by pinching them out with your thumb and forefinger. A 5-point penalty for evidence of recent disbudbing is usually deducted by judges using "point system judging."

Here is the American Rose Society's approved "point judging" score:

Russ Will Have 30,000 Planes in A Year

Speedier Jet Fighter Being Produced

By EDWARD CURTIS
LONDON —(AP)—In another 12 months Russia will be able to put more than 30,000 warplanes in the air, a royal air force review estimated Monday.
The Russians now have about 19,000 planes, about half of them fighters, said the official publication.
The review said Russian construction efforts are being concentrated on the MIG-15, the jet fighter tried out in Korea, a speedier jet fighter, the Lavochkin 17, and a twin-jet bomber.
"The MIG-15 becomes a back number with the recent advent of the Lavochkin, a tube-like, single-engine fighter," the publication said.

7,000 Bombers Now
The new bomber is said to be patterned after the Canberra, a 600-mile-an-hour light bomber which the British air force is putting into service soon.
Other information in the article included:
Russia has about 7,000 bombers of all types. Subtracting these and the fighters from the 19,000-plane force would leave the Russians with about 2,500 transports, reconnaissance and training planes.
The Russian air fleet is divided into four air forces, each "able to operate independently of the other."

Park Board Renamed

All five members of the city park board were unofficially reappointed to their posts by the city council Monday.
The council ordered a resolution prepared for final approval next week reappointing the following park board members: George Holmes, Thomas C. Woods, Robert Ferguson, Joe W. Seacrest and Ralph Slocum.
The council also approved the appointment of Mrs. Robert Simmons to another five-year term on the city housing authority.

Two Resign from Wesleyan Faculty

Resignation of two Nebraska Wesleyan university staff members have been accepted, Chancellor Carl C. Bracy said today.
Professor Dale E. Case, head of the department of geography since 1948, has resigned to continue work toward his Ph.D. and Miss Elizabeth Bule, instructor in physical education for women since 1947, will also continue graduate work.
Professor Case distinguished himself at Wesleyan by his active sponsorship of and participation in the affairs of the Wesleyan International Relations club which led to national recognition through the medium of a series of spring tours to spread "a better concept of international understanding throughout Nebraska."
Miss Bule developed what was considered one of the finest women's physical education departments among the small colleges in this area, during her four years on the Wesleyan staff.

Service Businesses Get New OPS Rules

Service business firms which do not have a copy of ceiling price regulation No. 34, issued by the Office of price stabilization may secure a copy of the ruling from Jack E. Bergstrom at the Lincoln chamber of commerce.
Shoe repair shops, beauty parlors, refrigeration, radio, household appliance firms, garages, body shops, filling stations and others which deal primarily in services, come under this recently issued regulation, rather than under the original "general ceiling price regulation."
Bergstrom stressed that the chamber is merely distributing the official rulings on behalf of the OPS and that he is not qualified to interpret the ruling for individual service firms.
"Questions about regulation No. 34 or any of the other ceiling price rulings should be directed to the Office of Price Stabilization, 1516 Harney street, Omaha, Nebraska," Bergstrom said.

Seven Students Given DeMolay Degrees Here

Initiation and DeMolay degrees for six Lincoln students and one from Fairbury highlighted the Monday session of the 23rd annual state convocation of the Order of DeMolay at the Scottish Rite temple.
In the ceremonies, conducted by the Lincoln chapter, Don Isherwood, Stan Matzke, Denney Johnson, Jack Rhodes, Robert Smith, and Roger Turner, all of Lincoln, and Bob Smith, Fairbury, received the DeMolay degree.

At the second day of registration, which saw 70 DeMolays from over the state sign up, Mayor Victor Anderson bade welcome to the boys—most of whom are of high school age.
Prior to the bestowing of degrees, three "queens of Job's Daughters" bethel—Shirley Lewis, Ann White, and Marilyn Orput—were introduced, along with presentation of Jo Ann Thompson, worthy advisor of the Lincoln Rainbow Girls.

The "flower talk," dedicated to mothers of the group, was given this year by state chapter advisor (Dad) Bob Heath, assistant deputy of East Nebraska DeMolay.

Bob Haselbrook, West Point, acted as state master councillor for the DeMolays in the absence of Don Brown, Arlington, now in the army.
Kay Jones, Fairbury, senior councillor of the state, also is with the army, making it necessary for Haselbrook, state junior councillor, to take over.

Election Banquet Tuesday
Tuesday's meetings and election of officers will be capped with an evening banquet, an address by Nebraska Governor Val Peterson, installation of officers, and bestowal of chevalier degrees for outstanding service.
Receiving the degrees will be Robert Haselbrook, West Point—presently state junior councillor—Robert Farnham, Lincoln, and

Flood Aid Organizations Gain Lincoln's Praise

All civic organizations and private citizens who helped in flood work over the week end were commended in a resolution signed by all members of the city council Monday.
Groups specifically mentioned were the Red Cross, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign War, Lincoln Boat club, national guard and the city street, sewer, police, fire and auxiliary fire departments.

Installing officers of the degrees Monday were Bob Church, master councillor; J. Lloyd McMaster, first councillor; Russell Mattson, third councillor, and John Wilbur, grand marshal.

Cap Guns To Be Legal Here On July Fourth

Cap guns and caps will be legal in Lincoln July 4 along with non-explosive night works if the city council approves an ordinance introduced on first and second reading Monday.

The measure was the work of Councilman Roy Sheaff who advocated the change in an effort to have a fireworks law in harmony with state regulations.

Previously, only night fireworks, sparklers, flares, fountains, etc. were legally sold and shot in the city. The new ordinance, said Sheaff, will do away with tents pitched on the outskirts to sell caps and guns along with night works.

Waterlogged Counties Take Check Of Flood Losses

Saunders Bridge Loss Reaches 100

Damage Estimated At Near $200,000

Flood-wracked southeast Nebraska Monday started the punishing task of counting damages.

Few figures were available. But when they are made, they'll probably rival any in the area's history.

The farmer seemed to be the heaviest loser mostly in damage to crops.

County roads and bridges also took a heavy beating.

Most of the business sections of the towns escaped serious damage, although residential districts were flooded.

Apparently the most severely damaged was Saunders county.

Saunders County Engineer W. J. Stewart estimated damage to bridges and culverts at about $200,000.

Between 80 and 100 bridges were washed out or damaged and at least that many more culverts, he told The Lincoln Star.

Oldtimers said Wahoo and Sand creeks—the two doing the most flooding—were the highest in history.

Almost all the county was hit.

Stewart said that "quite a little" livestock was lost and practically all the corn has to be replaced.

Approaches to a bridge over Silver creek in Ashland were out.

A gravel highway—State No. 63—was closed between Ithaca and Ashland.

Stewart said a box culvert on the highway was gone and the road was "darn near washed away." Several county roads were closed.

Saunders County Sheriff Joseph Davis said that at least half of Ithaca was covered by flood waters. He estimated damage to Ithaca at about $20,000.

The Harry Markle Produce and Hardware store at Ithaca also was badly damaged.

Dance Hall Damaged

Also in Saunders county, damage to the Dance Island—a dance hall near Wahoo—and to the operator's home was estimated at $10,000.

George King, Seward county clerk, said a lot of culverts and approaches to bridges in Seward county were washed out.

And in Seward, Mayor Wilbur Wood said that the Hughes Brothers Manufacturing plant suffered "tremendous damage." He couldn't give a figure.

Seward Damage High

Damage to the town was greater this time than in the 1949 flood.

York Grants Degrees To 41 Students

... Dr. Gage Speaks

(Special To The Star)

YORK, Neb.—York college held its 55th commencement Monday, with a graduating class of 41 members.

The annual Christian associations sermon was preached Sunday morning, June 3, by Rev. William G. Rembolt of Lincoln.

and Rev. William P. Watkins of York preached the baccalaureate sermon on the evening of the same day.

The commencement address was given by Dr. Harry Morehouse Gage, former president of Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

His subject was "Invincible Guardians of Democracy." Honor students were presented by Dr. William C. Noll and Professor A. H. Bergen, dean of men, presented the senior class, the degrees being conferred by President Walter E. Bachman.

The candidates for honorary degrees were introduced by Dr. D. E. Weidner, president emeritus of York college.

Bishop C. H. Stauffer, president of college board of trustees, offered the invocation and pronounced the benediction.

The city's parking really took a beating," Wood said. The park's swimming pool, football field and baseball diamonds were damaged.

All the roads through the park are ruined, he added.

At Ashland, Mayor K. E. Harris said about 50 residences were hit by the flood. Several dikes washed out and there also was damage to the park and football field.

In Saline county, with the Blue river and Turkey creek both crossing the county, damage also was extensive.

Saline County Sheriff John Tesar said the farmers suffered the most. He said he saw whole farms under water on both sides of the river, including 80 acre patches of wheat and corn.

Although the water was higher, he said that water in Crete itself got up to about the same level as it did in the May 8, 1950, flood.

The reason, he said, is because some dikes broke, draining off some of the water.

A car belonging to Frank Rohla, Wilber, was swept off Highway 82 a quarter mile south of Crete. Rohla and three other occupants were rescued by Crete firemen.

Fremont New Head Of State Livestock Men

FAIRBURY, Neb. — (AP) — Glenn E. Wells of Fremont was elected president of the Nebraska Livestock association at the 18th annual meeting here Sunday.

Howard Thompson of Bassett was named first vice president, and Frank Sargent of Alliance was elected second vice president.

E. P. Ryan of Grand Island was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Directors include: Thompson, Richard L. Corey of Scottsbluff and William A. Michie of Chapell. J. J. Williams of Fairbury is a board member as immediate past president.

The group endorsed the report of the resolutions committee headed by Roy Tucker of York, calling for an end to livestock and meat controls at the earliest possible moment.

The resolution cited staggering losses in the livestock industry by rollbacks already imposed. The hazard and weather risks of disease and disaster over many months period for the livestock producers and the fact that the percentage of national income spent for meat is as low or lower now than at any point in the past 30 years, were also cited.

Education of the public in the use of lower price meat cuts would be helpful, the committee said.

$100,000 Storm Sewer Job Needed For Southwest Section

Flood Closes Pioneer Park For 2 Weeks

Lincoln's city council was told Monday that a $100,000 storm sewer project was urgently needed in the southwest section of town. The statement, made by Engineer D. L. Erickson, came as an aftermath of the week end flood, brought on in part by inability of storm sewers to carry off excess rainfall.

Erickson also told councilmen that Pioneer park will be closed for about two weeks due to the floods. The city, he said, lost many picnic tables in the area during height of the inundation. The specific area mentioned as needing the storm sewer project was Lake street from Ninth to Fourteenth, and Van Dorn from Sixteenth to Twentieth.

About 100 picnic tables were washed away, said Erickson, but it is hoped that most of them will be recovered.

Also, Erickson reported about 20 feet of pavement washed away from the drive through the park directly south of the duck pond. Water in the park, he said, was as high as four feet in some places over the week end.

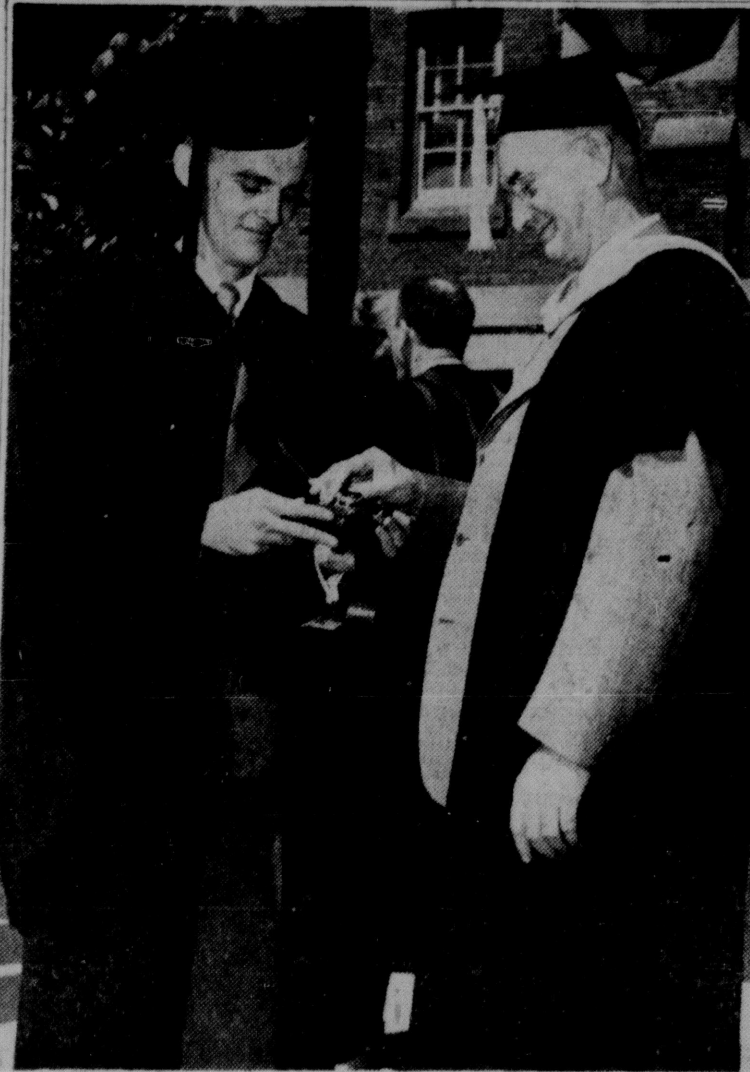

Erickson pointed to further losses in the washout of the Fifty-second and Francis street bridge. The structure was already in bad shape, he said, and was strictly limited on weight carriage. It is hoped, he said, that the bridge can be replaced. He estimated such a project at a cost of $25,000.

There was no damage, said Erickson, to the city's water supply system at Ashland. The wells there, he said, were all isolated by water but none of the overflow went into the wells.

Many other areas in the city to the south and further east were also hard hit with basement flooding because of the lack of a good storm sewer system.

FATHER AND SON RECEIVE N.U. DEGREE—Among the graduates awarded degrees by the University of Nebraska Monday were Maurice L. McCrory and his son, Vernon. (Star Photo.)

Father And Son Graduate From NU Ahead Of Mother

BY JIM COUFAL (Star Staff Writer)

Maurice L. McCrory, 46, and his son Vernon, 23, both graduated from the University of Nebraska Monday.

But it will be another year or two until Mrs. Maurice McCrory brings home a degree in this education-bent family.

McCrory senior quit teaching school last year to take a master of arts degree in education. He said the advanced degree is "just sort of necessary if you're going to stay in school work."

Except for the year he spent getting his M.A., McCrory has taught ever since he graduated from Peru State Teachers college in 1929. In 1949-50 he was superintendent of schools at Clay Center.

The detour in his son's quest for education was shorter, a two-year stretch in the army.

Now with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering, Vernon has taken a position with a local manufacturing plant.

Following in her husband's footsteps, Mrs. Maurice McCrory went back to school last summer and fall to continue work on her B. A. degree. She is now teaching on a two-year certificate. Of the rest of the family, McCrory senior said the eldest son, 25-year-old Francis is happy with no college training while working as a civilian for the navy in Oregon.

Nineteen-year-old Ellen was graduated from Clay Center high school last year and now works at the state capital.

Her sister, Mary, 20, was a sophomore at the University of Nebraska but has a good reason for not going back in the fall. Her wedding is this Tuesday.

State Health Unit's Aid Ready For Flood Areas

Facilities of the state health department are available to local or county boards of health having trouble as a result of flooding, Dr. E. A. Rogers, acting director of the department, announced Monday.

Dr. Rogers said the department has been assisting in problems of sanitation in the flooded area but may have missed some spots. He said the personnel and emergency equipment is available to health boards and private families.

It was recommended leafy vegetables such as cabbage and lettuce be discarded if submerged in the water. Vegetables that can be peeled were held safe. Particular care should be taken with canned goods to make sure no water seeped in, Dr. Rogers said.

Removing of flood silt from homes should be by scraping and shoveling. It was pointed out that that experience has shown it can best be accomplished without adding water. Scrubbing with soap and water is best with several applications rather than trying to get it clean in one operation. A final rinse in chlorine water is recommended.

The council authorized the preparation of blanks by the city personnel department on which private flood damages could be reported by phone. The council asked that any person suffering flood loss phone the amount of loss in dollars into the personnel office.

With the coming special election to raise more city funds, said Councilman Chauncey W. D. Kinsey, such figures will be of value to show the need for such things as more storm sewers.

TOMMY HITCHCOCK—POLO IMMORTAL

TOMMY HITCHCOCK was one of the true immortals of the Golden Age of Sports. An international star for 20 years, he is rated the finest polo player the game has ever known.

I THINK TOMMY'S GREATEST triumph was in 1928, when he led a patched-up U. S. team against the highly favored challengers from Argentina. That day, Tommy's brilliant playing completely baffled the visitors from the Pampas. At the final bell the score stood 13 to 7... and the United States was once again champion of the Americas.

TONIGHT, enjoy the "champion of whiskeys"—finer, milder P.M. You can always count on the uniform lightness and smoothness that have made P.M. Preferred by Millions.

Thursday through Saturday was a mighty busy period—not only for the weatherman, but also for members of the very young crowd.

On Thursday evening, for instance, Miss Nancy Johnson was hostess to a group of feminine guests at a picnic supper in the garden at her home—and a good thing the affair had been planned for Thursday, considering the week-end weather.

In the group—all entering high school in September are: Seated on the ground, left to right: Barbara Brittin, Beverly Shanklin, Sandra Schlabitz and Kay Deppen.

Milligan Clubwomen Entertain

The final meeting of the year for the members of the Milligan woman's club was held last Tuesday evening when the husbands of the members were guests at a covered dish supper held at Milligan's Funfair park.

Presiding at the short meeting which followed the supper was Mrs. Frank V. Hamouz, retiring president, who introduced Mrs. Oscar Warp of Minden, guest speaker for the evening, and first vice president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Warp spoke on the organization of the state federation and explained the many funds into which the state clubs' yearly dues are divided.

A report on the club's youth project committee was given followed by the annual reports of the club officers, and announcement was made of the gift to the Milligan library in memory of the late Mrs. Karel Beranek by members of her family.

Following a program of magic by Leroy Becwar, Mrs. Warp presided at the formal installation of new club officers. Mrs. Frank Hamouz was honored as the recently chosen first vice president of the fourth district of women's clubs. Officers and board members for the Milligan club during the coming year will include: Mrs. Louis Vavra, president; Mrs. Edward Oliva, first vice president; Mrs. Henry Kotas, second vice president; Mrs. William H. Kotas, secretary; Mrs. Mike Becwar, jr., treasurer; and members of the board of directors, Mrs. Stanley Chudly, Mrs. James Vavra

"Some day I'm going to own a Roadmaster"

ONE thing that interests us mightily is the fact that so many people are stepping up, when they buy automobiles.

We've been looking at surveys, and it seems that just about everyone wants a better car than the one he's now driving.

So we know how you feel, and we'd like to help you make your dreams come true.

We'd like you to discover how fine a fine car can be.

We'd like you to stretch out in the room of a ROADMASTER—feel the luxury of its double-depth cushions—stroke the fine texture of its fabrics.

We'd like you to know the proud levelness of its coil-spring cushioned ride—as well as its gentle obedience to your hand on the wheel.

We'd like to show you the many extras this custom-built Buick provides—at no extra charge when we come to make out a bill of sale.

But above all, we'd like you to experience two thrills found exclusively in ROADMASTERS.

One is the smooth might of its Fireball Engine. The other is the supreme simplicity of Dynaflo Drive, which is, incidentally, one of the many features included in the price.

We try to hold down our enthusiasm in talking about this masterful beauty.

We might claim—you'll find more room—more comfort—more luxury—a smoother ride—more conveniences—more thrill in a ROADMASTER than in any other car in the fine-car field.

But why spoil the thrill of discovery? Come find out for yourself how completely a 1951 ROADMASTER fulfills the dreams of the car you hope sometime to own.

And let us whisper something to you: The cost of making this step to ROADMASTER ownership is less than most people believe.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

No One Was Bored

END FOOTBALL WEEK—ends can't compare with the one just past—Weddings, a flower show—commencement—the young crowd whinging—all within a space of three days—Commencement is over—the teen-agers will soon settle down for the summer—but the weddings go on as usual.

THE APPROACHING WEEK-END has numerous nuptials on its calendar—and among the brides of Saturday, June 9, is Miss Barbara Yeager whose marriage to Wayne Eisenhart will be solemnized on that day.

For her matron of honor Miss Yeager has chosen Mrs. Robert D. Thorne of Boulder, Colo., and her bridesmaid threesome includes Miss Marilyn Morgan of McCook; Mrs. Jack Yeager of Kearney, and Miss Ann Stebbins.

Russell Eisenhart of Clay Center will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers will be Jerry Solomon, Russell Kugler, both of Culbertson; Roderick Fletcher, St. Joseph, Mo., and Jack Yeager of Kearney.

MISS YEAGER GOES TO OMAHA today for two pre-nuptial courtesies—The first is a brunch and a kitchen shower for which Mrs. Sigred Burg and her daughter, Miss Marilyn Burg, will be hostess at their home at 10:30 o'clock.

Then—the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. George Yeager, and her cousin, Miss Joan Yeager, will be luncheon hostesses at their home, complimenting the bride-to-be. Thirty guests have been invited for the luncheon and a miscellaneous shower.

SOME OF THE POPULAR week-end guests have returned to their homes, we hear—P. Craig Spencer left in his private plane Monday afternoon—and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. (Mike) Garrett, who were in town for the week-end and also much feted, left Monday morning to return to Tulsa, Okla.

BUT THERE WERE OTHER guests who remained in town for a longer visit—Mrs. Roderick Fletcher of St. Joseph, Mo., is one of those—and her sister, Mrs. Allen T. O'Connor of Kearney, and the young Ann O'Connor, are two more—Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. O'Connor and her daughter are guests at the home of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miles.

THEN WE LEARNED that Mr. and Mrs. James Miles and their son, Steven, arrived at the week's end, to spend a few days as the house guests of Mr. Miles's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miles.

WOULDN'T BE SURPRISED if Mrs. E. J. Faulkner is a little weary of posies, at the moment—but Mrs. Faulkner and her committee chairmen are deserving of orchids for a most outstanding and clever show—Incidentally—all of the flowers from the show were distributed to the various Lincoln hospitals by the Camp Fire Girls, so Mrs. Clifford Jorgenson, president of the Lincoln Camp Fire organization, tells us.

Lincoln people will be particularly interested in the marriage of Patricia Jane Huckins, formerly of Omaha, to Capt. Frederick J. Archibald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Archibald of Albany, N. Y., formerly of Lincoln and Omaha.

The marriage took place on Friday, June 1, in the Chapel of the Holy Spirit, Washington cathedral, with the Rev. Luther D. Miller, jr., solemnizing the service.

Mrs. Archibald is a graduate of Hockaday School for Girls, Dallas, Tex., and attended the Persons School of Design in New York City.

THESE ARE STAR PHOTOS

The Star went to a rehearsal Monday afternoon at the Lincoln Country Club when members of the Lincoln Junior League made final plans for their fashion show which will climax the annual June meeting and luncheon of the league to be held Tuesday.

Learning that all is not play in modeling fashions and that a straight and narrow runway is not always easy to walk, a group of the models (above, left) relaxed for a moment and presented their version of "how

Sally, Mary and Patty Morrow are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrow; Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hunt; Edward Hudson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hudson; Donny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Shurtleff; and Shelley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George X. Smith.

Clutching her hairbrush—and a very wilted peony for inspiration—is Mrs. Jack Hyland (center) who is trying to attain just the right expression to accompany her costume of what the well-dressed leaguer will wear after a very hard day. Serving as general chairman for the show is Mrs. Arthur Hudson (not pictured).

White Sox Management Engineers New Player Swap

Browns Give Up Don Lenhardt In Complex Three-Club Finagle

CHICAGO. — (AP) — Chicago's White Sox management keeps fixing it so you can't tell the players without a scorecard—tomorrow's scorecard.

Baseball's swappiest club made a complex three-club trade Monday and came up with just what it wanted.

The league leading White Sox got Don Lenhardt, versatile, long-hitting outfielder from the St. Louis Browns. Third Baseman Hank Majeski went back to the Philadelphia Athletics on the deal. And the A's infielder, Kermit Wahl, became a socker only long enough to be signed over to the Browns.

Outfielder Paul Lehner and an unannounced sum of cash went with Wahl to St. Louis in exchange for Lenhardt.

"We didn't out-trade anyone," General Manager Frank Lane said. "We just got the man we wanted. We're happy, and I'm sure the other clubs are."

Lenhardt hit .273 last year. He scored 81 runs, 22 of them homers. He's hefty, measures six feet three inches, and moves fast.

"We didn't have anyone to cover first base in the event anything happened to Eddie Robinson," Lane said. "Lenhardt is good at first. He can play third, too, and he's a fine fielder."

"Then, too, we've been short of right handed hitters. Lenhardt bats right handed. And he's a long-ball hitter. There's a lot of value in that ability."

Lane said he thinks the fast and furious negotiating for new blood has had something to do with the White Sox ascendancy this year to their present two-game lead in the American league standings. The Sox finished in sixth place last season.

"Every trade has been made with a view to building a consistently winning ball club," he said.

FEW OLD-TIMERS
There's only a handful of old timers on the Chicago roster—Floyd Baker, Randy Gumpert, Howie Judson, Marv Rotblatt and Jim Busby.

Some of the deals involved the shifting of several players to salt down a specialist in a White Sox position. Take the deal that brought Robinson to first base in the Comiskey brotherhood, for instance.

With Robinson from Washington on Memorial Day, 1950, came Ray Scarborough and Al Kozar, both of whom have since left in subsequent trades. And in that swap, the Senators got Cass Michaels, Bob Kazava and veteran outfielder John Ostrowski.

Then there was the three-team, seven-player deal in which Orestes Minoso was acquired from Cleveland and Lehner came from Philadelphia. The Chicago Team lost Gus Zernial, their all time home-run champion who poled 29 hits over the outfield walls last year, and Dave Philley, a good outfielder.

Joe DeBoson, Al Zarilla and Dick Littlefield, since optioned to Memphis, came to the White Sox in a five-player trade last December which sent Scarborough and another pitcher, Bill Wright, to the Boston Red Sox.

FOX NIGHTMARE
Billy Pierce, pitcher who has won six games this year, came in a 1949 trade with Detroit for Aaron Robinson. Saul Rogovin came from Detroit last month in a pitcher deal for Bob Cain.

Nelson Fox, who has developed into a nightmare for pitchers, was obtained for Joe Tipton in a deal with the Athletics. And Ed Stewart, an outfielder, came from Washington in exchange for Mike McCormick.

Lane has kept a sharp eye on recruit possibilities who were available on waivers. He signed Bob Dillinger that way; also Lou Kretlow and Phil Masi.

The remainder of the team was drafted or purchased outright within the last two years. Gus Niarhos was a buy from the Yankees in mid-season last year. Joe Eruatt came from Little Rock of the Southern Association on draft. Luis Aloma, a relief pitcher with a 2-2 record last year, came on conditional sale from Buffalo in 1950.

Harry Dorish, former Red Sox pitcher, was drafted in November last year from Toronto of the International League. Chico Carrasquel was a cash acquisition last year from the Brooklyn Texas League farm club, Fort Worth. Infielder Joe De Maestri was drafted from Louisville this year.

A Visit To Steinhart Park

STEINHART PARK, NEBRASKA CITY—We're coming to you from one of the most beautiful recreation spots we've ever visited.

It's Steinhart Park, attractive symphony of hills and woods a half mile from Nebraska City.

Developed and financed by John Steinhart, head of the Oteo Canning factory, the park features a lodge built of similar design and material as the famed Yellowstone Park lodge.

From the wide picture windows, we can view a full panorama of all the facilities here—the swimming pool, the lush nine-hole grass greens golf course, the tennis courts, and picnic grounds and the children's play grounds.

It's a real show.

INSIDE the lodge, you first notice the lighting. It's designed so that it diffuses a soft light to every part of the huge room, including the loft.

The building is 40 feet wide and 108 feet long and is made of native limestone from a quarry in nearby Cass county near Weeping Water, Neb. It's beams are of the lodgepole pine, native of the Rocky Mountain region. And the cement was manufactured at nearby Louisville, Neb.

You notice a spacious fireplace at one end of the room. Above the hearth is a picture "The Origin of Corn," which was painted especially for the lodge by Oscar Howe, a native Nebraska Sioux Indian, the son of Chief Don't Know How. Mr. Howe is now an instructor at the South Dakota State Indian school.

FULL year-around dining service is available at the lodge. On special occasions it is used for everything from dinner dances to Girl Scout meetings.

The golf course, which is only five years old, is a natural. It weaves over hill, dale and stream completely through the park. Its grass greens are about the smoothest we've seen outside of Lincoln and Omaha.

Bud Williamson, Lincoln Country club pro, aided with laying out the course.

"I guess we've just been lucky with our greens," said Fred Oetgen, who runs the pro shop. "They took hold right away and have improved ever since."

Wilcox, English Are Iowa U.S. Open Qualifiers
DES MOINES, Ia.—(AP)—An amateur and a professional each shot a five-over-par 149 to become Iowa's two qualifiers in the U.S. open golf tournament at Birmingham, Mich., June 14-16.

Pat Wilcox, Des Moines professional, and Jim English, of Red Oak, Ia., led the field of 20 over the 6,386-yard, par 72 Wakonda country club course here.

Wilcox carded a 75-75-149, English a 78-71-149.

Col. John W. Kline of Omaha shot a 79, then withdrew.

The first pitch in American league history was a ball. The next pitch was called a strike.

Chisox Sting Boston Twice, 6-5, 2-0; Tribe Taps Yanks

(Compiled From Press Dispatches)

THE phenomenal Chicago White Sox Monday night moved 3½ games ahead in the American league race with Saul Rogovin hurling a 2-0 victory over Boston after Bill Pierce beat the Red Sox, 6-5, for his fifth straight victory before a twilight-night twin bill crowd of 42,718, Comiskey park's biggest of the season.

The double decision gained the White Sox a game and a half over the second-place New York Yankees, who bowed to the Cleveland Indians, 8-2.

Rogovin, recently acquired from the Detroit Tigers, scattered seven hits to register the Pale Hose's fifth shutout of the season in the tightly-played after-piece. It was right-handed Rogovin's third win against one defeat and his second victory for the White Sox.

The loser against Rogovin was lefty Bill Wright, who absorbed his fourth set-back against one victory. Like Ray Scarborough, Pierce's victim in the first game, Wright was a former White Sox team member traded in the same deal to Boston.

The windup was settled in the Sox sixth inning when a double by Nelson Fox, a triple by Minny Minoso and a two-bagger by Eddie Robinson, all in succession, produced the game's only two runs.

Three double plays helped Rogovin, who left eight Red Sox stranded.

The see-saw opener gave Pierce his seventh decision against two defeats.

INDIANS 8, Yanks 2.
Cleveland's Indians, with an assist from a black cat and 15,000 rabbits' feet, finally broke through the Ed Lopat jinx to beat the New York Yankees 8-2 for their ninth straight victory.

Lopat, who had won 30 out of 36 games against the Tribe and the last 11 in a row, was replaced by Tommy Byrne at the start of the third after allowing six runs and giving up seven hits. The defeat, his first against eight wins, marked the first time since June 17, 1949, that he had lost to the Indians.

Mike Garcia, winning his fifth victory against three losses, allowed 10 hits, but shut out the Yankees after their two-run first inning.

Tommy Byrne, who succeeded Lopat, allowed two runs and five hits.

LIMMER HOMERS
Rookie Lou Limmer hit a grand slam home run for the Philadelphia Athletics and they went on to down the St. Louis Browns, 7-6, with Eddie Joost driving in the deciding run with a double in the seventh inning.

Joost's decisive hit came after Bill Kennedy, the third of four Browns' pitchers, had walked Pete Suder and Joe Tipton and both had advanced on a sacrifice.

TIGERS 6, SENATORS 5
Johnny Groth punched a single to right field with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to grab a 6 to 5 win for the Detroit Tigers over the Washington Senators.

PIRATES 12, PHILS 4
The Pittsburgh Pirates broke an eight game losing streak by blasting four Philadelphia Phillies hurlers for 17 hits and a 12-to-4 victory.

Gus Bell led the Pirate attack by hitting for the cycle with a single, double, triple and homer to drive in four runs.

Bob Friend and Murry Dickson, who relieved him in the seventh, scattered 12 Philadelphia safeties, including homers by Gran Hamner and Richie Ashburn.

REDS 10, BRAVES 7
Cincinnati's Reds scored three runs in the eighth inning and seven more in the ninth to wipe out a 7-0 Boston lead and beat the Braves, 10 to 7, for a sweep of their three-game series.

What up to then had been a five-hit shutout for the Braves' Max Surkon was blasted by Connie Ryan's three-run homer in the eighth. In the ninth, Dick Donovan relieved Surkon with the bases loaded. He walked in one run and gave way to another reliever, Sid Schacht.

GIANTS 2, PHILS 1
The St. Louis Cardinals combined the old with the new Monday to stay in second place in the National league.

Old pro Stan Musial and Rookie Joe Presko combined to beat the New York Giants and Larry Jansen, 7 to 2.

Presko set the Giants down with eight hits as he gained his fifth win in seven decisions. The young right-hander gave up a home run ball to Hank Thompson in the seventh and yielded another run in the ninth.

Kennedy was charged with the loss and Bob Shantz, who put the Browns down in order for the last three innings, was credited with the victory.

The contest drew only 2,176 fans.

Limmer, a graduate of the A's Lincoln (Neb.) farm club, socked his four-run homer to the top of the right field pavilion in the fifth after Al Widmar had walked Al Clark, Gus Zernial and Dave Philley. The blow knocked out Widmar.

Doubles by Ferris Fain and Philley gave the A's another run in the sixth, giving Philadelphia a 6-3 lead, but the Browns tied it up that same inning. A single by Fred Marsh, a double by Ned Garver, a grounder by Jim Delensing and a double by Ray Coleman produced three runs. Garver, the Browns' ace pitcher, was a pinch hitter.

Shantz, also an A's farm system grad, is a former Lincoln teammate of Limmer.

Major League Attendance Eight Per Cent Off For '51

National Loop Leads As A.L. Shows 12 Per Cent Decline

BY JACK HAND.

NEW YORK (AP)—Big league baseball attendance is about eight per cent behind last year on a per game basis although the total draw is 97,585 ahead of the 1950 figures.

The difference comes from the games played, 267 this year through Sunday as compared to 269 last year. Consequently, the American and National have drawn 4,315,634 to 4,218,049 in '50.

Despite the larger ball parks in the American, the National is showing the way with 2,297,367, well distributed among all eight teams. Figuring an average home attendance the National for '51 is 14,822 to 15,338 last year—a decrease of three per cent.

Philadelphia and St. Louis are the weak sisters of the American, both running behind last year's sorry figures. As a result, the American has drawn 2,018,267 paid or 14,213 per home date. The 1950 average this time was 16,100—a drop of 12 per cent.

The figures show considerable improvement since an early sampling, Sunday's tremendous turnout of 75,163 at Cleveland to watch the Indians take two from the New York Yankees set a season high.

Cleveland and Chicago have bettered the 1950 records in the American, and Brooklyn, Cincinnati, New York and Philadelphia are doing better in the National.

DeMoss Favorite In Trans-Miss Tourney

QUINCY, Ill. (AP)—Grace DeMoss of Corvallis, Ore., runner-up last year, had her wood shots zipping Monday as players got their final practice rounds for the 21st Trans-Mississippi Golf tournament.

Miss DeMoss, who lost in the finals of the girls' Trans-Miss at Dallas to Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., in 1950, won the driving contest with a three ball total of 740 yards. She reported her long game in good shape while touring the course.

Eighteen holes of qualifying play for the 62 entries will begin over the 6,508 yard Quincy Country club course at 10 a. m. (CST) today. Thirty-two players will make the championship flight for Wednesday's first round of match competition.

P. Garner of Midland, Tex., also hit the ball well. She placed second, only four yards short, in the driving contest at 740 yards. She had the longest walk of the day, 299 yards.

While Miss Lindsay and Miss DeMoss are regarded in the championship consideration at least four other shooters appear capable of making a real run for the title.

Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., six-time Montana state champion; Miss Garner, and two newcomers—Mary Downey of Baltimore, Md., and Ann Villegas of New Orleans—are capable of going the distance.

Miss Villegas won the Louisiana State women's crown last year. She was a quarter finalist in the 1950 Trans-Mississippi. She is the current Maryland champion.

The championship will be settled in a 36-hole match Sunday.

Red Cross Classes Delayed At Munny

Adverse weather conditions have made it impossible to ready the Munny swimming pool facilities in time for the Red Cross swimming classes schedule to begin Monday. Classes have been rescheduled to meet on Monday, June 11.

Classes slated for the Northeast pool were not delayed by the weather and instructions were started Monday.

The Red Cross program has approximately 500 beginners registered for summer lessons.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mustard Dessert

Isn't So Crazy

NEW YORK—(INS)—Ever try mustard on your dessert? Science says it's not as crazy as it might sound.

Ernest C. Crocker, flavor expert, says scientists have discovered that at the end of a meal, taste buds begin to get tired and could well use the added stimulation of a strong seasoning. He explains:

"At the beginning of a meal, taste buds are active and full of anticipation, and appetite then furnishes its own sauce."

"Later in the meal, however, at the time when we have really about enough for our welfare, the appetite begins to lag. The condiments add more zest to the food and coax us to keep on eating."

Linen Revival

NEW YORK—(INS)—There is a strong revival of interest in decorative prints and complementary colored linens for household decorating this year. An entirely new group of handwoven plain linens in 29 colors has been imported by one fabric firm from Peru. There are also English-imported chintz, roller prints and cretonnes available along with linens this season.

Four Claim 3 Places On Liquor Board

... Rydman Takes Oath

Nebraska had a surplus of liquor control commissioners Monday as G. H. Rydman took the oath as successor to Commissioner Blaine Young, whose removal by Gov. Val Peterson is at issue in the Supreme court. It made four claiming seats on the three man commission.

To add to the confusion, none of them cared to take the office vacated by Chairman Marcus Poet, whose term expired. Gus Prestegard was named to succeed him, but he and Young have been using the same office. Rydman spent the morning in the office of Nathan B. Pont who will continue as acting chairman, temporarily, according to a prepared statement.

The commission statement, issued after a meeting of Pont, Prestegard and Rydman, also said: "The attorney general's office states that it is their contention that Mr. G. H. Rydman of Omaha is the commissioner entitled to take office as of this date."

Young spent the morning in the capitol but made no attempt to participate in the commission conference. He explained that he visits the commission office several times a week pending the decision of the Supreme court.

The governor fired Young on the grounds that licensees have been permitted to buy insurance from companies he represents and instruct that commissions be paid Young. Counsel for Young told the court that he has not solicited business and questioned the authority of the governor to oust him.

Boost Likely In Natural Gas Output In City

Relief was in sight Monday for Lincoln's acute shortage of natural gas.

From Washington City Attorney John Jacobson has reported that the Federal Power Commission is looking favorably on approval of a 75 million cubic feet daily increase in the gas output of Northern Natural Gas Company of Omaha. Northern serves Lincoln municipalities.

That boost, said Mayor Victor E. Anderson, would allow sufficient increase to Central Electric and Gas Company of Lincoln from Northern to meet all present and anticipated future gas demands.

1,500 Turned Down There are presently 1,500 persons who have applied for gas service in the city but are being turned down. Northern has stopped addition of any new demands which thus leaves Central unable to meet planned housing and industrial expansion in the city.

Northern has asked the power commission for an increase of 225 million cubic feet capacity per day. However, the commission could not act on that in time for the next heating season.

Jacobson reported that a fact finding committee of the commission reported it would recommend favorably on a temporary 75 million cubic feet capacity. He stated further that the commission then said it would probably go along with its committee's recommendation.
